The WizardPicks also shows you the total performance of all signals. We show you the winning percentage of open trades as well as the break down between winning signals, losing signals and Flat signals – those signals which were never filled.

We also show you the average number of days for each open trade as well the total profit and total margin profit.

And you can always toggle between the Conservative and Aggressive Methods to see how the profits and losses change.

In the Conservative Method, profit targets that have been achieved are brightly lit and shown with a check mark next to them, while profit targets that have not been achieved are darker colored, with no check mark.
